OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE ENGAGEMENT NEAR ORLEANS-THE FIGHTING RESUMED YESTER-DAY-GARIBALDI TO OPERATE IN THE VOSGES

Tours, Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1856. Nothing has been heard from Paris to-day, but it is currently reported that the bombardment of the fortifications by the Prussians has begun.

The Minister of War has received the following dispatch from the Commandant-in-Chief of the Pifteenth Corps, dated at Orleans last evening:

"At about 9 o'clock this merning our force at Artenny (12 miles from Orleans) was attacked by a considerable body of the enemy. Our troops consisted of Gen. Lergnell's brigade and several companies of chasseurs. After a sharp battle the enemy succeeded in occupying the position. Gen. Reyan went to the assistance of our troops with five regiments, four battaliens, and a battery of eight guns. After fighting until 3 o'clock in the afternoon we were compelled te fail back into a forest, which is still held, and which shall be defended at any price. The enemy was greatly superior in numbers.

It is understood that the fighting was resumed to day near Orleans. The people of this city are expressing their indignation at the course of the antherities in not seeing that the Fifteenth Corps was properly reënforced. The scene of the battle is only are collected several thousand troops-infantry, cavalry, and artillery. The public is painfully impressed because these troops were not immediately for Reynolds and May, the two Americans who esraped from Paris in a balloon recently, have arrived bere. They correborate the flattering report of the gituation of affair in Paris, given by M. Gambetta. Mr. Reynolds describes his voyage and the scenes and incidents on starting from the beleaguered city. The members of the Government and a great crowd of people collected to witness the start. Louis Blane was in the assemblage. In a few seconds from starting the balloons were over the Prassian lines, and were greeted with a sharp veiley of musketry. The hissing of the bullets was heard on all sides. Rockets and other than bullets, were also fired at the balloons. Ballast their lives. M. Gambetta's balloon descended at Creinl, and for a long time was so close to the earth that one shot from the Prussians wounded him in the hand, and another went through the balloon. Both balloons were ultimately landed North of Amiens. Gambetta's balloon brought out of Paris nearly 39,000 letters. There were still 18,000 waiting dispatch at the Paris Post-Office.

A large number of prisoners of war, including some Uhlans, arrived here to-day. The crowds of people who had collected to get a glimpse of them appeared much exasperated, and it required strong efforts of the authorities to prevent a retaliation on the spot for the late Prussian atrocities. The Prussians having threatened to execute the municipal authorities of Ablis, because at that place the Francstirear surprised the enemy, killing many and capturing others, the French Government has given official public notice that one Prussian prisoner will be shot for every person killed by the Prussians. It is reported that the Prassians shoot all the Francs-Grears they capture. This is one reason why the letter carry the black flag. LORD LYONS NEGOTIATING FOR AN ARMISTICE-THE FRENCH CLERICAL PARTY OPPOSING GARIBALDI - GUSTAVE PLOURENS RESIGNS HIS COMMAND IN THE FRENCH ARMY.

LONDON, Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1876. It is stated that the English Minister to France, Lord Lyons, recently suggested to Count Von Bismarck the expediency of an armistice. Von Bismarck replied that Prussia would be glad to make peace at any time, and anywhere, but no proposition looking to a truce would be entertained for a moment.

It is reported here that the Clerical party in France, especially in Brittany and la Vendée, have taken umbrage at the popularity of Garibuldi, and

It is also stated that the National Guards, 10,000 strong, under Gustave Flourens, demanded of the Provisional Government that Chassepot rifles be given them, and that a change be made in the practice of opposing on every battle-field one Frenchman to three Prussians. The answer made by the Government was unfavorable, and Flourens has restated

To the Ree, Dr. BELLOWS, President; We know no reason why any distinction should be made by the American people between those who hanguish with sickness and wounds and those who starve because driven from their homes and their fields overrun with armies or collectors of army supplies. This Association has proposed to itself relief mainly to the sick and wounded because it is a brunch of the International Society of Europe; but it is willing to act in behalf of the American people as the almoner of relief to the starving populations of the warfield of Europe if the American people wish to forward supplies and have no better medium. It would recommend, however, a separate association, as likely to be nore efficient.

Have not the people the will to send four, beans, pens, salted meats, canned fruits and vegetables, to the people whom war is now scourging with the most frightful famine! We ask the question aloud, in hopes it may bring some echo of relief from the country at large. Cannot a humane sentiment, such as once fed reliand, be again excited in the American breast toward French and German sufferers! On inquiry at the State Department here, nothing of the kind had been heard, and it is believed that the rumor probably arose from the fact that Laugevin passed through the canal, going west, on his annual inspection of the works on the Canada rivers, on board the Dominion gumboat, with the British ensign flying. The treaty concerning the canal is interpreted by all well-morned politicians to mean that its navigation is free to Canadians and Americans alike over the whole width of the lake, and that passages can be made by either party.
